Thanksgiving

There's a charm to your name, Thanksgiving,
When the gray goose spreads its wings,
From the frost-bound lakes
To the Southern brakes,
Where the gulf breeze softly sings.
'Tis a joy to be worth while living,
When the call of Nature rings.

There's a thrill to your name, Thanksgiving,
When the frost tinge fills the air,
And the north winds whine
O'er the lofty pine,
Afar to the Southland, fair,
Then the world seems filled to brimming,
With your meaning everywhere.

Comes a spell with your name, Thanksgiving,
From the East to the West-coast hills,
From the wide spread plains
To the North mountains,
Where the hush of the wildwood thrills,
Aye! Life is indeed Thanksgiving,
With the creed your name fulfills.
—Allen F. Brewer.

A History Lesson

THE FIRST THANKGIVING FEAST.

It was in November, 1621, about a year after the landing of the Pilgrims that the first Thanksgiving was celebrated.

It had been a long year, full of sorrow, full of hardship. Yet in that which they had most wanted to do, the Pilgrims had been successful. Their homes were established in the new land. The Indians were friends. Food was plentiful.

For these reasons the governor of the little colony, William Bradford, resolved to appoint a thanksgiving to be celebrated by all the people. A whole week was set aside for giving thanks for the mercies which these earnest men felt that God had bestowed upon them. Feasting and gaiety were to be the duty of everyone during the appointed days.

While the whole week was set aside for this great celebration, one day, Thursday, was to be especially gay. On that day the greatest feast of all was to be held. Indian friends were invited and great preparations were made.

How busy everyone was! Three men were out with their guns to spend two days in gathering game. Another party went to the beach to dig clams. The women busied themselves with the baking of all sort of cakes and sweetmeats. Strange names they gave to some of the dainties they made! There were marchpans and machets, and possets and plum porridge, as well as many other strange dishes.

The friendly Indian Squanto, was sent to Nomasket to despatch an Indian runner to invite Chief Massasoit, his brother and some of his friends.

When Thursday morning came, the settlement was startled by a great din. The Indian guests had arrived. A whoop and a shout and terrible shrieks announced their presence. This was their polite way of showing the settlers how gay and happy they were over their invitation.

Three men welcomed them—the minister, Governor Bradford and Miles Standish. Nearly a hundred Indians came with Massasoit and his brother Quadequina. Fancy how the Pilgrim mothers must have looked at one another and said: "There's some work for us to do, it is plain to be seen, if we are going to feed this hungry crowd properly."

The cooking was done out of door. A great fire was started in the open and the whole settlement, together with the Indian guests, gathered around it like a great family for morning prayers, before the great first feast of Thanksgiving.

Massasoit had been in Plymouth before, so the custom of the Pilgrims of having morning prayers was probably not new to him. Doubtless they all felt the solemnity of the impressive ceremony and they must have thought that the Pilgrims were talking to the "Great Spirit," as indeed they were.

Then a long table was spread in the open air. Here the men ate their breakfast, while the women and children had theirs in the "Common House" under shelter.

First, there were wooden bowls full of what we sometimes call hasty-pudding, with butter and molasses. Then there was clam chowder, with biscuits floating in the broth. After that, came cold boiled meat and mustard, and dishes of turnips, and as a special delicacy, a great pewter bowl of plum-porridge.

After the meal, Massasoit's brother, Quadequina, called one of his Indians forward. The latter brought out from some hiding place and poured upon the table a great quantity of popped corn. You may be sure the Pilgrims were delighted with that, for most of them had never seen or tasted pop-corn before.

After breakfast, there were prayers again, for these ancestors of ours were a very religious folk.

Though the November weather was warm and lovely, so much so that the people ever after referred to it as the "Indian's Summer," the guests were invited to sit about the fire for sociability's sake while the men went through a little military drill, which must have struck terror to the hearts of some of the Indian braves, though their leaders knew and trusted the friendly spirit of the whites.

The three hunters who went into the woods for game had returned well laden with wild turkeys. At home, in old England, the women had been accustomed to preparing birds for the table with a dressing of Spanish chestnuts. At first they were at a loss as to what they could use for the turkey dressing. Then they thought of the wild beechnuts from the woods, and tried them, finding to their delight that the dressing was delicious.

The Indians organized a hunting party and brought in a great amount of venison, for they, too, wished to contribute something to the feast. Others brought in several baskets of oysters. The women scalloped these with bread crumbs, and since they had no pans large enough to bake them in, ingeniously stuffed oyster shells full of the bread crumbs and oysters, and baked them thus.

With feasts of turkey, venison, oysters baked in their own shells, and broths and stews made of the wild birds, dumplings and roasts and salads, sweetmeats and wild fruits, grapes and plums from the woods, they prolonged the celebration till Saturday. The Indians then left, and the feasting over, the Pilgrims settled back into their usual busy lives.

If you would know what happened to the Pilgrims after their first Thanksgiving, as well as the interesting events which led up to it, and at the same time enjoy a thrilling story of adventure and hardship and victory, read a little book by Jane G. Austen called "Standish, a Story of the Pilgrims," from which this account of the first Thanksgiving has been adapted.

How the Pueblo Indians Celebrate Their Thanksgiving

Each year the Pueblo Indians who inhabit the two terraced clay community houses which rise tier on tier to the height of five stories at Taos, New Mexico, celebrate the festival of San Geronimo Day. In the morning, races and dances are held; and in the afternoon, Indian clowns climb a thick pole, at the top of which hangs a dead sheep, vegetables and other food. The one fortunate enough to reach the top lowers the provisions to his companions. To climb this pole at all requires true Indian agility.

This Autumn festival is not so much a tribute to San Geronimo as a thanksgiving to the bountiful sun-god for the harvest that has been plentifully supplied. A great many tourists visit Taos and attend she picturesque ceremonies, which are held on the last day of September. There is not sufficient room to shelter them in the primitive little town, so they have to travel to the adjacent town of San Fernandez de Tados, two and a half miles distance. Here the canny Mexican population stages a celebration all its own, to extract from the travelers what loose coins they have.—Popular Science Monthly.

"The true spirit of Thanksgiving Day should serve as a pattern for every day in the year. 'When I see my friends after a night separation,' said Channing, 'let me receive them as new gifts from God.' So with all our blessings day by day."

Every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused if it be received with thanksgiving.—I Tim. 4:4.

Thanksgiving Song

Whence comes this song of harvest cheer,
This hymn of praise unto the sky;
So strong, that all the world may hear
It rise on high?

'Tis grateful people thanking Him
Whose hand hath led their steps aright,
A faithful Guide, however dim
And dark the night.

What is the song of praise they sing,
In which the people all take part;
So full that in its strength they bring
A nation's heart?

'Tis the Thanksgiving Harvest prayer
Of gratitude for ample yield,
For tender love and watchful care
O'er home and field.

History of the Turkey.

There is not much to turkey history. It was in the time of Henry VIII that England became acquainted with this fowl, it being sent from this country by William Strickland, Sebastian Cabot's lieutenant. The first turkey seen in France was served up at the wedding feast of Charles II, in the year 1564. History tells us that it was about 1585 when the turkey began to form an article in the English Christmas feasts. Since 1864 turkeys have been the nucleus for wedding feasts and Thanksgiving dinners.

Just how the name originated is difficult to tell. The identity of the bird seems in some way confused with the guinea fowl, which is claimed a native of Turkey, but the resemblance between the guinea and the turkey is so at variance that one can scarcely understand just why that confusion occurred.

Notwithstanding that America claims the ownership of the turkey, it remained for England to adopt the fashion of eating turkey on Christmas day. But it was not long afterwards that this country copied the style. For this move the south deserves the credit. The story goes as follows:

In the early settlement of Virginia, the colonists ran low in their supply of provisions. Not only were their stores nearly gone, but the Indians were becoming ugly, refusing to furnish corn, and also making it dangerous for the whites to search for game.

Matters were becoming dangerous and it became a question of either taking great risks of hunting for food or starving to death. So the day before Christmas a party of the young men settlers determined to make a break and secure meat of some kind, for meat had not been tasted by any of them for several weeks.

After traveling some distance from the camp they happened across a trap set by the Indians for the capture of turkeys, and were rewarded by finding thirty fine birds contained therein. These were quickly killed, and the happy party carefully wended their way home laden with the spoils. This incident established the bird, for the settlement resolved that so long as they lived turkey should be the principal feature of their Christmas dinners, and the custom has never lost its hold on the American people.

As a Thanksgiving bird, the turkey dates its introduction back to the time when Governor Bradford, in Massachusetts, proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving—prayer and rejoicing—for the early settlers of New England. But he did not tell them what they should eat. Wild turkeys being plentiful in the woods, the settlers reasoned that nothing could be more savory, or add a greater festive air to the dinner than a plump turkey. The idea was adopted and the custom prevails to this day.

Turkey in their wild state travel in flocks or herds. Some of these flocks will number as many as 500. They are most numerous in the great swamps of this country, being found in large numbers in the Southern States.

These swamps, however, are used more for roosting in at night, for as soon as there is break of day they roam out to the dry woods in search of berries and acorns. While in the swamps at night they perch on trees, traveling from bough to bough until they reach greater heights.

This gives them a position of safety. The turkey is a very awkward bird on the wing, being practically no flyer, but it is remarkable with what swiftness it can run. In the early spring these turkeys assume so much fat that they are easily overtaken by horsemen.

Forty or more years ago Bement, then one of the leading poultry authorities, said that the turkey was entirely unknown before the discovery of America by Columbus, and that it was a bird indigenous to this country—a real North American. The turkey is one of those fowls that may be found in both a wild and domesticated state, but how long it will remain so is a question, for as civilization and improvement advance the wild race no doubt will meet with the same fate as have the Indian and the buffalo.

Buffen claims that as the turkey was unknown before the discovery of America, it has no name in the ancient language. It is called pauen delas Indias by the Spaniard, the meaning of which is the peacock of the Indias; no doubt on account of the similarity of its tail with that of the peacock. The domesticated breeds of turkeys are the Bronze, White Holland, Narragansett, Buff, Black and Slate.—Charles T. Cornman.

DETROIT.

Adieu to the 176-78 Headquarters, in which I enjoyed
The socials, the chairs and chatters—
I know them like a book:
I leave you to the ghosts
Of the narrow hall,
The long rough floor,
Where in the dark night, the folks
Saw the frolics of the mice.

Good-by little cosy Kitcheneette,
Short walled like a prison.
Set in the corner farther end
Of the narrow hall,
No sandwiches will be half so fine
No coffee half so good
As when the folks served at nine
Beneath the electric light.

Farewell the four damned flights,
Though your charms entice
I leave you to the ghosts
Of the narrow hall,
The cobwebs and the mice,
But here I shall remember
The social gatherings,
That helped the Convention over
The top with lots of money.

The Detroit Association of the Deaf have leased a new club house at No. 951 Porter Street, on west side, for five years, and will move there before November 15th. It is practically a new building, and has a large lecture on dancing hall, billiard room, office, kitchenette, etc.

It is ideal, and the auxs are delighted with it. They will have a "House Warming" this month. The D. A. D. and auxs have come to the conclusion that they will give socials as often as they can spare to raise funds towards a new club of its own. A committee has been appointed to lay out programs for the meetings and socials for the coming winter.

Detroit Branch N. A. D. held its meeting Saturday evening, October 30th. Mrs. Colby resigned as Secretary of the Branch, and Mr. Heymanson was appointed temporary Secretary. Mrs. Rollins was chosen to manage the social this month. The Branch will meet again in December, when new officers will be elected.

Remember the Thanksgiving reception and dance Saturday evening, November 27th, at the Concordia Hall, Temple Bldg. Admission, fifty cents per person. It is for the benefit of the club house drive of the Detroit Association of the Deaf. Come and have a good time. Fun is a food as necessary as bread. Dance will make a person feel joyous, that will clear the cobwebs of discouragement. Ivan Heymanson is general chairman, so a good time is in store for all of us.

We received the first issue of the Silent Worker for this fall, and the Jewish Deaf for October. Both magazines are fine and newswy.

A baby girl, Miss Thelma Ella, 8½ pounds, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schnabelius, October 20th. Mother and child are doing fine. Congratulations.

The office of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation in Jacksonville, Florida, where Mr. Vernier has been employed, has been transferred to Washington, D. C. Mr. Vernier received his transfer and will go to Washington, D. C., with Mrs. Vernier, on December 11th. Mrs. Colby and Miss Colby probably will join them Christmas.

James Bankston, who came here from Atlanta, Ga., and secured a position at the Fordson Co., at Dearborn, met with an accident at the above factory and had one of his ankles crushed last month. It was amputated on Friday, October 29th, at the Ford Hospital, near River Rouge. He is a frat. His close friend, Marcus Morgan, constantly visited him and comforted him. At this writing he is much improved.

Alex Groesbeck, Michigan's next governor, has a deaf cousin by the name of L. Groesbeck.

R. V. Jones and family have moved to No. 431½ Lycaete Street, East Side, November 2d. There are more than fifty deaf living on the East Side.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones announced the engagement of their son, Albert H., to Miss Minnie Repberg, a charming young lady. Friends extend their congratulations and best wishes to the young couple.

Herbert Shugart and Eltie Latimore were married October 30th, at St. Boniface, where Father Kaufman officiated. Miss Ann Donohue was the bridesmaid and Joe Pastori bestman. They received the best wishes from the Detroit Community.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huhn entertained their seventeen friends with a Halloween party Saturday evening, October 30th, at their home. Games were indulged in and refreshments were served. And on the following Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Huhn and Clyde Barnett went to Ypsilanti to pay Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Stark are contemplating going South to Jacksonville, Florida, to spend the winter this month. Through train service between Detroit and Jacksonville, Florida, will be started November 14th. The new train, the "Royal Palm," will leave the Michigan depot here at 10 P. M., and arrive in Jacksonville at 8:45 o'clock the second morning. Service will also be given by "Royal Palm" to Atlanta and Macon, Ga.

When Dr. Patterson was in Detroit October 23d, he was taken around the city and country with Clyde Barnett and Aloysius Japes being chauffeur. Young Aloysius certainly knows how to entertain visitors.

The subway approach to the New Belle Isle Bridge, running under Jefferson Avenue along East Grand Boulevard, will be completed and open for traffic after New Year.

Some friends here heard from Mrs. Allie M. Andrews, that she has reached home in Los Angeles safe and sound.

About a dozen boys from here, went to Flint to attend the Hal-lowe'en Party, given by the Flint N. F. S. D. Club Saturday evening, October 30th.

Chas. Ozier, Pard, Gaupili, Pastor and Aloysius Japes played several Halloween pranks Saturday evening, October 30th. Ask them what they were.

Walter Carl has just purchased a new motorcycle (Harley Davidson), he expects to motor to the N. F. S. D. Convention at Atlanta, Ga., next Summer.

Ralph Beaver, wife and friends, motored to the Flint Halloween party, and they reported having a grand time.

During the October month, some deaf were taking advantage of the fair weather to help gather the heavy nut crop in Milford, Plymouth and Northville, Mich. Black walnuts sold for fifty cents a bushel in the suburbs.

The following clipping is from the Cassopolis, Mich., October 29th: "Frances Gordon, 50 years old, of Santiago, Cal., was suffocated by smoke during a fire early Thursday morning, October 28th, that destroyed the Goodwin hotel here.

Fifteen guests escaped from the hotel in their night clothes. An hour after the fire started Rev. E. D. Moser, Presbyterian minister, headed a searching party to the hotel and found Miss Gordon. Flames had burned away part of her clothing. She was dead when found. The woman was deaf. The loss was $15,000.

INDIANAPOLIS.

Howdy, folks! Been wondering where we been all these months? We would not be surprised if the editor had printed our obituary, but, listen, old Indianapolis is still on the map and we are very much alive as yet. They say that the world is so full of a number of things that it is hard to find places for them all. That is us. We sure have been busy, but we think we have found a niche in the jumble and crush of mundane affairs for a bit of work for our old friend the JOURNAL.

Of recent events in the Hoosier capital, the recent reunion of the Indiana Association of the Deaf is what some folks would call the big noise. It was originally planned to hold the reunion in June, but the sudden closing of school in May made that impossible. Then it was planned to hold it on September 17, 18, 19, but the coal situation forced another postponement to October 1, 2, 3. Owing to the changes the attendance was somewhat smaller than we had hoped for. Nevertheless, it was a success from start to finish. The local committee had planned for a GOOD TIME, and saw to it that nothing interfered therewith. The attendance reached high water mark on Saturday evening, and was estimated at about 400.

It sure was a prosperous looking bunch that attended this reunion. There were automobiles by the dozen flying about all the time, and when it came to raising money for various purposes—all you had to do was pass the hat and then hire a truck to haul away the proceeds.

The banquet Saturday night was the real thing, plenty to eat and speeches galore. The hit of the evening was made by Supt. and Mrs. Pittenger, who made speeches in signs. They had been associated with the deaf less than a year and did better than many who have spent a lifetime among us.

Speaking of Supt. and Mrs. Pittenger, we wish to say that no school ever had a superintendent and matron who were more thoroughly in earnest or who gave more of themselves to the work than they. They are up early and stay up late and are on the job every minute of the longest day. They are never too busy to listen to anything that has to do with the school, and have made a place for themselves in the hearts of all of us. They are educators, first, last and all the time, and bringing to the school the active support and sympathy of the best educators of the State. Instead of an isolated special school, ours is rapidly becoming recognized as a real part of the school system of the State.

The N. A. D. at its Detroit convention saw fit to rap various boards for going outside the profession to find superintendents. In our opinion such action was ill advised.

Indiana's experience has proved that what the profession really needs is less specialization and more common sense. Like all newcomers to the profession, Mr. Pittenger has had to listen to oralist, semi-oralists, combined system advocates, and a host of others. He has heard them all with patient courtesy, but his stand on every question is "show me." His orders are that "we must encourage speech and speech reading in every possible way, but we shall not sacrifice everything for speech." No man has a broader conception of the education of the deaf than he, and no man is better qualified to organize and manage a strictly modern school for the deaf than he. Indiana has been way back in the last row for a good many years, but just you hold your hats and watch our smoke.

Indianapolis Division, No. 22, N. F. S. D., is very much in evidence as usual in this town. Scarcely a month passes without the Fraters pulling off something big. Their latest was a grand masquerade on October 30th. The committee spared no pains to make the affair one to be remembered, and succeeded immensely.

The real big noise in Fradom will be staged December 31st, and January 1st and 2d. There will be a big supper on the 31st, followed by a grand ceremonial session of Indianapolis Den No. 7, B. O. B. On the 1st the division will keep open house all day at their lodge room, and there will be eats and smokes and speeches all day. In the evening there will be a public installation ceremony. On the 2d, there will be a special church service for the deaf in the city, and then the lodge room will be thrown open for a social session. Better plan to be there.

The Frats are also making big medicine for landing the grand Division Convention for 1924. A committee has been on the job for three years, and springs something new about every month. They are also storing up some prize stunts for the convention if they land it, and they can not see any other city in the running at the present date.

From London, England, comes the information that a London "scientist and engineer" has accomplished something in the electrical field that gives promise of enabling a certain portion of the deaf to hear.

Of course the newspapers have featured it and probably overestimated its practical importance. However, it is well for those who suffer from lack of hearing, that newspapers take rosy, hopeful views of theories and inventions designed to aid the afflicted, for that encourages inventors to persevere—and who can say what marvels may not eventually result from hopefulness begotten of encouragement.

The inventor, S. G. Brown, is a Fellow of the Royal Society, and the record of his achievements is long and distinguished. He has many important electrical discoveries to his credit. The new instrument is called the Ossiphone. It is too good to expect that its benefits will be either numerously or widely secured by the deaf as a class, but it marks a step forward in effort and interest, that should enlist our attention and persuade us to feel that the smother of silence by which we are enveloped will some day be cleared away.

"His ossiphone is known to London ear specialists, and many patients have been sent by these doctors to Mr. Brown. One specialist, indeed, uses the ossiphone in his own consulting room, as he is slightly deaf, and finds this aid enables him to hear everything his patients have to say. An ossiphone has also been used for some time by a well known peer, and it has been successfully tried in a London hospital. Several leading business men have avoided compulsory retirement, owing to defective hearing, from boards of directors, by the employment of the instrument, and an engineer took one with him to Singapore for board meetings and also to test riveting.

"The ossiphone is based on the knowledge that the bones of the skull convey the sound waves caught by the ear drums to the department of the brain concerned with hearing. During the war ear specialists tested deafness by placing a celluloid fan against the patient's teeth. This was to distinguish between the practically hopeless nerve deafness and the curable drum deafness. The sound vibrations in the case of drum deafness are conveyed by the celluloid fan to the teeth and so by the skull bones to the brain."

DEAF-MUTE HANGS HERSELF

Despondency over physical afflictions and family troubles prompted Mrs. Pauline Schilling, thirty-three, deaf-mute, to end her life by hanging herself in the basement of her home, 10513 Franklin Avenue, Monday evening.

Her husband, Phillips Schilling, sought her when she had failed to appear for several hours. He found her body hanging from a rafter.—Cleveland News, Oct. 27.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

The Literary Society presented the following program on Saturday evening, November 6th.

DEBATE: Resolved, "That Economy is a greater advantage to success than Energy." Affirmative, Mr. Lawtzen, '22; Mr. Kirby, '24. Negative, Mr. Maczkowski, '22; Mr. Santin, '24.

TALK—Mr. Fred Moore, '15.

DECLARATION—"Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by Mr. Krohn, P.C.

CRITIC'S REPORT—Mr. O. D. Guire, '21

The feature of the programme was Mr. Moore's talk. Coming direct from Akron, in advance of husky gridiron warriors, it was only natural that he should speak about Rubber City. When he departed from his Alma Mater in 1915, he left behind him an enviable record as quarterback and coach for Gallaudet. In Akron he has held both positions on the Akron Silent Eleven with equal distinction. In his talk, using his beloved football phraseology, he "tackled" his subject neatly. He explained the present depression in Akron and predicted a return to normalcy in the not distant future.

Saturday morning, November 6th, the Akron Silent Football Team descended in a body upon the Green. They were in Washington to play the Rex Athletic Association Team the next day, Sunday, November 7th. On Saturday evening a reception in their honor was tendered by the college. After the guests had been introduced to the fair inhabitants of the east-wing, games were indulged in. Towards the close of the reception refreshment were served. It was an enjoyable affair from the beginning to the end.

Gallaudet, 21 Randolph-Macon, 0
Randolph-Macon College proved an easy prey for Gallaudet, when the two teams clashed on Garlic Field, November 6th. While Gallaudet by no means expected a stiff opposition, she was prepared to secure her victory at all hazards. It was the last home game of the season.

Added to this the team was playing under the eyes of several of her former stars, like Fred Moore, '15, Scott Cascaden, ex-'17, Deer ex-'22, Marshall, '17, Classen, '16, McMullan, ex-'22, and the players were eager to prove that they could measure up to the high standards their illustrious predecessors had set for them.

The game opened with a kick-off by the visitors. Benedict received the ball and conveyed it to mid field. A 40-yard end run, by Bonehard, was duplicated by a 20-yard end run, by Seipp. Seipp reached goal for the first touchdown. Benedict kicked goal. In a few minutes Gallaudet was again plowing up toward goal, when Netusil made a successful dash for touchdown No. 2.

In the second quarter Netusil again carried the ball over the line.

The third and fourth quarters witnessed no change in the figures. Randolph-Macon, while not able to gain much ground, put up a better defense than she had done in the first half. Coach Hughes, however, thought it worth while to give the substitutes a taste of the fray. Randolph-Macon did not appreciate this compliment, but was unable to show that he had mis-estimated her strength. Line-up and summary:—

A large number of the students witnessed the Akron Silents swamp the Rex A. C. eleven on Sunday afternoon, on Rex Athletic Field. From the first kick-off till the game was called the Silents played wonderful football. Coach Moore's men faced respectable opponents. The Rex Eleven had on its list several university veterans and crack players, but the Akron aggregation proved too much for them. The score was 21 to 6.

The Akron Silents remained on the Green until about ten o'clock, when they left for Union Station to board the 12:15 for Akron.

Prof. Victor O. Skyberg gave an interesting lecture, on Friday evening, November 12th. His topic was "The Story of Jute." He explained how jute was grown in India; how the labor problems were handled there; and how jute, as an article of commerce, had become of considerable importance. Because of its cheapness, jute has in many cases been substituted for cotton and hemp. Professor Skyberg had with him for exhibition several articles made of jute. After his lecture a few reels of motion-picture showed how jute was made into ropes, bags and twine, at the Schlitz factories in Philadelphia.

Mr. Roy J. Stewart, '99, of this city, popped up on the Green on Saturday evening, Nov. 13, according to habit, but this time he came laden with two reels of film. After supper he invited the young men to an exhibition in Chapel Hall. They proved to be pictures of the Minnesota School for the Deaf, and of the Charles Thompson Memorial Hall between St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Prof. H. H. D. Drake delivered the Sunday afternoon sermon on Nov. 14th. He took for his text "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth."

Gallaudet, 21 Camp Humphrey, 20
The game against Drexel Institute, scheduled for Saturday, November 13th, had to be postponed upon request of the Institute. However, Manager Dobbins succeeded in slating a game with Camp Humphrey for the same afternoon.

The soldiers proved to have a stronger team than was expected. They had the aid of a former West Point star, who rolled up all their figures. Coach Hughes had excused Bouchard, LaFontaine and Matthew, from participating.

At the end of the first half the Camp Humphreys led by 20 to 6. But they had "used up all their ammunition." In the second half the Buff and Blue players came in brisk. They successfully manipulated forward passes and turned the tables on their opponents. Gallaudet kept her advantage until the close.

Except for three touchdowns, scored respectively by Netusil, Seipp and Turose, the whole team deserve credit for winning the game.

BOSTON

The first fall meeting of the Camp Fire Girls, of Boston, was held at the home of Mrs. M. L. Clark in Dorchester, on October 18th. They are planning to give their first entertainment early this fall at the Everett Home for Aged Deaf.

On Saturday evening, October 23d, a large gathering of members of Trinity Church met in the Parish House to form a society and to elect a committee to "boom" our Building Fund. Off and on for many years, a few dollars have been received and added to the fund, but nothing definite has been done to keep it growing. Saturday evening, however, we decided that if Boston was ever to have a church of her own it was up to younger people to start something. So the "St. Andrew's Silent Mission Building Society" was formed, with Mr. Light as chairman, Mrs. Brown, clerk, and Miss Smith, treasurer. There is also a board of five, consisting of Miss Green, Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Clark, Mr. Sargent and Mr. Lowenber.

Mr. Clarence H. Poor, Jr., who is Treasurer of the Diocesan Board of Missions, has reported the sum of $851.87. Very small, to be sure, but wait till we get things going, then may be you'll hear 'em hum.

On Sunday afternoon, October 31st, a speech and lip-reading service was held in the library of Trinity Church. The Rev. Mr. Hefflon read the evening service, and Miss Mabel Adams, Principal of the Horace Mann School, addressed us. There was also a choir, consisting of Miss Wetmore, of Wollaston, Miss Gillis, of Newton, and Miss Smith, of South Boston. It would be nice if we could have the Oral Services more often. Massachusetts being an oral center, and with only a few using the signs, it is no wonder that many of the deaf do not come to the morning service at Trinity, where signs are used. Rev. Mr. Hefflon and his lay readers, however, are so busy with other New England Missions that the Oral Service can not be had more often than when there is a fifth Sunday in the month. The next fifth Sunday comes in January, which is really a long ways off. Still a few services are to the oralists better than none at all.

The friends of Miss Sarah Scarborough, formerly of Cambridge, are happy to hear that she likes the new position she has secured in a hospital in Detroit. Sarah, you do not know how much you're missed!

A fair will be held in Emanuel Church on Newberry Street, on November 9th. Mrs. Haynes will be in charge, with some of the ladies of Trinity to help her. Proceeds go to Trinity Church Building Fund.

The game was started with the tossing of the basket-ball, by Principal Gardner, which he preceded by a short talk.

The game was somewhat thrilling, and ended at about 5 o'clock. The victory went to "Wellesley," by the score of 7 to 5.

Miss Sheehan was the referee, Anna Lange scorer, and Mary Caplan, timekeeper.

The Board of Directors of the F. A. A. honored Cadet Captain L. Cassinelli and Cadet 1st. Sergeant E. Mulfeldt, by bestowing an eight-inch letter (F) for their excellence in playing in basket-ball. Cadet First Sergeants Thomas Whalen and Emil Mulfeldt have taken Cadet Captain Moscovitz's place as writers of the Fanwood correspondence temporarily, on account of the regular writer being in St. Luke's Hospital.

On the 11th of November, Armistice Day, the pupils were assembled in the chapel. Principal Gardner gave us an interesting talk about the Armistice.

Several days ago Major Van Tassell selected Cadet Meyer Lifshutz as corporal of Company A; and Cadet Lance Corporals Pierre Blend and Arne Olsen as corporals of Company B. The promotions for Company C are not yet made.

Miss Connie Pizzuto, a recent graduate of Fanwood, paid a brief visit here on Thursday, the 11th.

After the dismissal of school, the pupils flocked to the gymnasium to see a basket ball game between "Emil" Five and "Mike" Five, on the 12th of November. "Mike" quintet was under the captaincy of Mike Czech, who is a star player and a great help for his team. "Mike" quintet exhibited some good floor work and clever shooting. "Emil" Five was defeated 29-16.

Mrs. I. B. Gardner and her daughter, Estelle, motored to Princeton to witness the great football game between Yale and Princeton.

Mr. Michael Ciavolino, a former Fanwoodite and honor graduate, made a call on us last Saturday. On the 13th of November, Prof. William G. Jones lectured before the members of the Fanwood Literary Association, about "Boy and Girl Scouts." We were much interested in it.

Keep this date in your mind. On Thanksgiving evening, there will be a basket ball match between the F. A. A. quintet and the K. L. T. (Knights of the Light Trinity). To see the game go to the 177th Street Subway Station (Brooklyn) between 6 and 7 P.M.

Principal Gardner made a wonderful speech about the foot ball contest, between Yale and Princeton Universities, in the chapel this morning.

A basket-ball match between Cadet Officers' quintet and Cadet quintet was held at our open-air court on Saturday, the 12th. Final score was 6 to 3 in favor of Cadet Officers' quintet.

Mrs. George H. Davis, wife of our accountant, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital last Thursday for a minor operation. All her friends will be glad to know that she is now doing very nicely and will soon be able to go to her home.

Dr. A. H. Hansen, Podiatrist, examined the feet of all the pupils on Thursday. Dr. Hansen says that the number of defections were considerably less than usually found in the average Institution, which he claims is due to our splendid system of daily exercises.

On November 19th, Founder's Day, Brigadier General Lincoln C. Andrews, the chief supervising officer of the Military Training Commission of the State of New York, will review the cadet battalion, and with the assistance of his staff will judge the competition between Companies A, B, and C, for the honor of carrying the colors for the ensuing year. On the same occasion Major Francis G. Landon, a member of our Board of Directors, will present to the battalion a new national color to replace our old one which is worn out.

The Board of Directors held their annual meeting at the Institution on Wednesday. At this meeting an appropriation from the special Library Fund was made to buy books and make further improvements in the School library.

Mr. William M. V. Hoffman, 2d Vice-President of the Institution, and a member of the Visiting Committee for the month, called on Monday.

Helping the German Deaf.

EMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE FOR THE WELFARE OF GERMAN DEAF-MUTES.

BERLIN, September 1, 1920.

To American Deaf-Mutes:—Because of the duration of the war and its after effects, the deaf-mutes in this country are in great distress. Many deaf-mutes are out of work and it will be a long while before times become better. Winter is now coming on and the suffering among the deaf-mutes will be very great. So we are writing to American deaf-mutes with the urgent request to collect funds for the suffering deaf-mutes here. The low rate of exchange of the mark will make it possible for us to obtain 50 marks for each dollar. In this way, we hope to mitigate the suffering among the deaf-mutes who are out of work.

Our periodical the Allgemeine Deutsch Taubstumme has also suffered under present conditions. We shall also be grateful if collections are made for the paper.

Hoping our request for help to American deaf-mutes will be received favorably, we remain,

With fraternal greetings,
WILHELM GOTTWEISS,
Chairman.

In response to an appeal for aid made by Mr. Watzulick, of Altenberg, Saxony, to succor the needy deaf made destitute by the war, the undersigned is soliciting contributions. Any amount, large or small, will be thankfully received and publicly acknowledged by the undersigned in the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL. The following have sent in their contributions.

NEW YORK.

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

The Halloween party of the Brooklyn Guild of Deaf-Mutes at St. Mark's Chapel, Brooklyn, on the evening of October 30th, was a decided success both in attendance and other enjoyment of those present.

The room was prettily decorated with festoons of orange and black crepe paper, interspersed with black cats, witches, owls and pumpkins, and clusters of corn and evergreen cones.

Of course the time-honored Halloween games were indulged in, such as ducking for apples, which few tried, not liking to get wet.

Trying to capture apples suspended from a string is somewhat of a feat, as the apples were fine large ones. Apple race, in which the contestant tried to pick up the apples with a small spoon—a difficult feat.

Then followed contests with peanuts. Each contestant was given a knife in turn, and told to scoop up all the peanuts he could with it, then walk over to a corner, place the nuts on a plate, return for more in a time limit of one minute. The one who succeeded in getting the most on a plate was rewarded with a prize appropriate to the occasion, as were those who won the other contests.

Next a hoop was suspended between the folding doors. To this all around were tied peanuts, and the contestant was blindfolded and given a pair of small scissors and told to snip off as many as he could. Many went wide of the hoop, missing it entirely. It provided much amusement for the onlookers.

After this those present were told to try their fate and see how many years before they would get married, by blowing out a row of six candles. The number remained lighted denoted how many years before marriage came their way.

Then the test of the three saucers was tried blindfolded. The first of clear water, denoted wedded bliss, with a young man or woman for mate; the second, with tea grounds, denoted one would marry a widow or widower; the last, empty, single blessedness. It provoked much laughter.

Last of all came coffee and cake and in some of these, in accordance with time-honored custom, and in lieu of a large cake, had been placed Halloween favors wrapped in waxed paper. The writer does not know who got the rings.

It was twelve when the last person departed, expressing his or her appreciation of a very pleasant evening.

Credit for the affair is due to R. H. Anderson, and his assistants, Misses E. M. Anderson, E. F. Caddy, and Mrs. Jastram. It was also a success financially.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 6th. The cozy home of Mrs. C. T. Thompson was the scene of a very successful surprise party to mark her birthday, which occurred a day or two before.

It was planned by Mrs. Thompson's son, with the assistance of Mrs. Eichele, who coaxed her out with her for a walk while the guests were assembling. On their return, at 9 o'clock, Mrs. Thompson walked into a darkened parlor, turned on the light, and then was so overcome at the sight of the friends who had gathered to do her honor that she sat down. She was so entirely taken by surprise.

Many amusing games were indulged in, and conversation filled in the pauses between.

About 11 dainty refreshments of grape juice, lemonade, sandwiches, cakes, fruit, coffee and bonbons was served. Many were the toasts and good wishes offered Mrs. Thompson during the feast.

The friends remembered her with many pretty gifts, and 1 o'clock found them departing for home, wishing her many and many happy returns of the day.

Among those present were Mrs. C. T. Thompson and son, Mesdames Juhring, Poorman, Eichele and G. W. Abrams, Misses Anderson, Caddy, and Miss Gantz and sister, and Messrs. Poorman, Anderson, Kersetter, and G. W. Abrams.

H. A. D. NOTES.

Dr. Thos. F. Fox gave a very instructive talk on "Skipping the Essentials," at the regular Friday evening service, held at the S. W. J. D. Building on the 12th. This Friday, the 19th, Rev. J. H. Kent will speak on "Forbearance."

All welcome.

The first Motion Picture Night of the season came off last Sunday evening, December 14th, and was conceded by all to have been the best so far.

During intermission, Mr. Marcus L. Kerner presented the S. W. J. D. gold and silver medals to the gymnast class winners of last season, as follows:

(now Mrs. Kuz) 2d, Miss Sarah Pusarin; 3d, Miss S. Kobrin.

Men—1st Prize, M. Tannenbaum; 2d, H. Hecht; 3d, H. Friedman. Because of preparations incident to the Grand Bazaar, which opens on Wednesday evening, December 1st, the next "Show" will be held the second Sunday in December.

WEDDING BELLS.

Miss Tessie Werbelovsky, of No. 1315 St. John's Place, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mr. Julius J. Byck, of Tannersville, N. Y., whose engagement was announced last month, were married Wednesday evening, November 10th, by a rabbi, and Rev. Dr. Albert J. Amateau interpreted in sign language. Among 35 couples present were Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Goldfogle, their daughter Hattie, and son Bertram.

The wedding was very pretty, and was held in Willoughby Mansion, known as "Swell" in Brooklyn. The bride was given away by her mother.

She was attended by her brothers, Abraham and Benjamin. Mr. Max S. Byck, cousin of Mr. Byck, was the best man.

After the ceremony the couple left for Atlantic City, N. J., to spend their honeymoon for a few days, and afterward visited Albany and some points of interest. Then they went to Lakewood, N. J., where they will make their home—the property presented by Mrs. Byck's brother, Abraham.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The 21st birthday anniversary of Miss Bertha Kausridde was celebrated at her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sunday, October 31st.

Dancing and games were enjoyed, and a buffet supper was served. A large cake formed the centerpiece, and favors were distributed among the guests. Many gifts were received from her girl and boy friends.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Kausridde, Miss Bertha and Master Alfred Kausridde, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. J. Toohy, Miss Nora Joyce, Miss A. O'Brien, Mrs. E. Pons, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hunt, Mr. E. Toohy, Mr. J. Hunt, Mr. H. Melia, Mrs. A. Pines, Mrs. Kahl, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders, and about ten hearing people.

Emanuel Simon, a deaf-mute, who was arrested for punching passengers at the Pennsylvania Station and swearing at them with his fingers, was game for more trouble when arraigned before Magistrate Schwab in night court. He swung his right fist to the jaw of Patrolman Wood, who stood beside him, and leaped for the Magistrate's desk.

Another patrolman dragged him, and Wood, recovering balance, also grappled with him. Dragging both patrolmen, Simon started for the door leading into the body of the court-room, screaming inarticulately. Seven more patrolmen, several detectives and two court attendants leaped upon him.

Still upright and biting, scratching and kicking in the midst of his assaults, Simon clambered over the gate, sprawling on the floor among the benches. Several of the policemen were dragged over with him. Others leaped upon the pile. The audience rose and ran to the street, screaming.

After several minutes one of the policemen managed to get a pair of nippers on the prisoner. Then his legs were ironed, handcuffs were slipped on his wrists, and he was carried back to a cell. Magistrate Schwab deciding to hold him for arraignment in day court tomorrow. In the fight Simon lost his shoes, socks, coat and shirt. His fingers still were twinkling in nimble proximity as he was carried back to the prison—New York Tribune, November 11th.

The Christmas Sale and Bazaar to be held at St. Elizabeth's Home, 236 East 15th Street, December 2d, 3d, and 4th, promises to be an event of unusual interest. A contract has been made with a doll manufacturer to supply dolls of every sort, and if any one is looking for a doll for a Christmas present, they will be sure to be pleased at the display.

The closing event will be an auction sale of all unsold articles, on Saturday night, December 4th. Also on the same evening all prizes won will be awarded.

A live committee is making arrangements, with Mr. John M. O'Donnell as chairman, and Mr. Gillen as Secretary, Messrs. Smith, Donnelly, Fogarty, O'Brien, Lamb, Lascala and others, also the Misses Joyce, Gallagher, Stans, Quinn, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Pons, Mrs. Geiger, Mrs. Donnelly.

Mrs. Louise Stella (deaf-mute) was hostess at a very charmingly appointed luncheon at Hotel St. Regis. The most brilliant of autumn flowers filled the private suite in which luncheon was given. Large baskets of unias and chrysanthemums made a gorgeous effect in the reception. Mrs. Stella is the wife of Dr. A. Stella, the most beloved and the richest woman of Peekskill County. She was the widow of Dr. E. De Lancey the wealthy lung specialist, from whom she inherited a very large fortune. She devoted a part of her patrimony to founding and equipping the De Lancey Hospital, the only hospital in Peekskill County, in memory of Dr. De Lancey. She married Dr. A. Stella in the year 1915, five years after the death of Dr. De Lancey. She has four children—Dr. Virginia De Lancey, Grace De Lancey, Antonetta Stella and Eleanor Stella.

Dan Cupid was busy during October. Among others that fell victims to his unerring aim were a Staten Island young lady, Miss Millie Labetti, and William Joseph O'Donnell, graduates of St. Joseph's. Both responded "Yes" at the crucial moment, when Rev. Joseph Scully, assistant pastor at the pretty little Church of St. Mary, Rosebank, Staten Island, came to that section of the marriage rites of Mother Church. And with his blessing included, the couple were sent on their way rejoicing. Miss Anna Hanlon was bridesmaid, and Frank Walker bestman.

Peter Graves, accompanied by Clifford Jones, came here from Pittsburgh in his motorcycle two weeks ago, and has been visiting a brother on Staten Island. On Friday last they started on the return trip, but not before making a visit at Pach's Photographic Studio and the New York Institution. They also did considerable sightseeing during their stay. Mr. Graves was educated at the Western Pennsylvania Institution, and Mr. Jones is a product of the Kentucky Institution at Danville.

Rev. Father Dalton, S. J., pastor of the Xavier Ephpheta Centre, while enthusiastic for the completion of the De l'Epee monument, is concerned that all the Catholic Deaf pay tribute to the noble benefactor by attending mass and receiving Communion this Sunday morning, November 21st, at the College Chapel, 30 West 16th Street, at 9 o'clock.

A couple of weeks ago Emil Basch was taken sick with congestion of the lungs. Much against his will, he was taken from his bachelor quarters to a hospital. Under skillful care he was improved to the point of convalescence. But being impatient to get away from the hospital, he suffered a relapse, and has since been critically ill.

Ivan Heymanson, of Detroit, Mich., is visiting his parents in New York City for a week. They reside on upper Broadway in the vicinity of the Fairwood School, which he visited. He also visited the Deaf-Mutes' Union League before returning to Detroit.

Ben Elkin was taken sick with La Grippe, and was confined to bed for over three days. He is now on the road to recovery. It is the first illness in his life. He is a member of Deaf-Mutes' Union League and Brooklyn N. F. S. D., No. 23.

Mrs. Anna Butler, of Genesee, N. Y., divided a fortnight visiting her daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kleckers, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Greis, recently.

An Appeal.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE N. A. D. AND THE DEAF IN GENERAL.

At the Detroit Convention a motion was brought up and unanimously carried that a Committee be appointed to collect funds for the Deaf Mute Institution in Lemberg and the deaf of Galicia, Poland, and the deaf of Galicia, Poland, which has appealed to the deaf of our prosperous country for aid in ameliorating the pathetic living conditions caused by the world war and still prevailing there at its height. The need of help to aid suffering humanity has never been so great as it now is in this country, and I most emphatically urge that every public spirited deaf American respond to this call.

Contributions may be sent to the Chairman, who will forward same to the Joint Distribution Committee, and acknowledgments made through the columns of the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL from time to time.

OHIO.

News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 999 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.

Nov. 13, 1920—The Advance society met Tuesday evening in the library of the school. The attendance was not up to the usual number, because of insufficient notice. However enough were present to allow business to proceed. President Clum was in the chair, and after the reading of the roll call and minutes of the last meeting, Treasurer Zell reported receipts and expenditures for October. He requested members in arrears for dues to "square up" by December 1st, in order to close up the year's accounts. Mr. Burcham, from the visiting committee to the Home, reported needs for the men's cottage, which included among other things a bolt of sheeting, pillow cases, three iron beds with springs and mattresses. The superintendent and matron were ordered to purchase them. Hereafter the purchasing committee is to do also all purchasing for the society.

The purchasing committee was requested to secure toys for the children before the holidays, for the February 14th social. By so doing there will be a better collection to select from, for after the holidays merchant's stock is depleted, as previous experience has taught. Next meeting will be held December 7th. It is the time for the annual election of officers also.

As an entertainment, a couple of dialogues were carried on. The first between a glass case worker and Mr. J. B. Showalter. Various questions were asked concerning this employment, and the talk proved interesting to the members and was enjoyed. The next dialogue was between Mr. Charles Robbins and Mrs. Ohlemacher. Mr. Robbins working in a shoe factory, was quizzed on the trade, and he enlightened members in regard to what his work was like.

Mr. W. H. H. Grigsby of the Home celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary Tuesday evening, by inviting the other residents, Superintendent and Matron, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, to a party in his honor. After passing some time in social talk, the guests were treated to ice-cream, etc. Then Mr. Grigsby recounted some of the incidents of his first wedding, and Mr. Chapman after a great deal of persuasion related how he passed through the ordeal. This was the first of the kind the "residents" have had at the Home, and they enjoyed it immensely. The guests wished Mr. Grigsby many more such. His son, William, was unable to be present so sent up the goodies in place.

Mr. F. D. Prouty an old time resident of this city and father of Miss Alice Prouty, died last Sunday as a result of injuries received when hurled against an iron railing while alighting from a street car, which had started suddenly. The accident occurred eight months ago. Mr. Prouty had reached the age of ninety at the time of death. Mr. Leo D. Frater is out of the hospital and feeling the better, as a result of parting with his appendix and relieved of some gall stones.

From now on he and family will reside at 1342 Andrew Street, South Akron, Ohio.

Miss Corinne Glaser, who has been employed by the Goodyear Company since the latter part of June, was excused the first of this month. On the way to her home in Dayton, Ohio, she stopped over in Columbus, and was the guest of Miss Katherine Tosky. By the way, former Columbus deaf people who worked for the Goodyear Company are back here, have secured work at other jobs.

The Wednesday Evening Club had its last meeting at the home of Miss Rosa Fiechla.

Corinne Glaser was one of the invited guests, and an enjoyable time was spent.

School was dismissed at 1:40 P. M. on the 11th inst., in honor of Armistice Day, and pupils permitted to witness the parade from along Grant Avenue.

In the morning chapel exercises were given. Rev. Read and Superintendent Jones made addresses, and patriotic exercises were given in song. The Boy Scouts of the school were in uniform.

The first real cold snap came yesterday. Gas pressure is low, and many private homes are still waiting to have the coal bins filled.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond, of Miami County, were admitted to the Home November 1st. Also a brother and sister by the name of Huflner, of Wakeman, Huron County, have become residents of the Home since.

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1588 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

On Saturday morning, November 6th, Mr. Reider's brother, Mr. George S. Reider, of Oley, Berks County, motored to Philadelphia in his large Buick car loaded with farm products, and after unloading them, immediately returned to the country talking his brother along. The weather was delightful, and the roads so good that the distance of about sixty-five miles was easily covered in about two hours. The next day, 7th instant, they made a trip to Strasstown by way of Mohrsville, Shoemakersville and Hamburg, to visit some relatives close to the Blue Mountains. In the afternoon they continued their circuitous trip to Reading, arriving there at about 5:30 o'clock, to see an aunt whom they had missed in Strasstown and who was visiting her son, Mr. Samuel Donore, a first cousin of Mr. Reider. As this part of the trip had not been planned beforehand, the visit was a pleasant surprise to the Reading relatives, who would not allow them to depart until the middle of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Donore treated them to a fine supper and the visit was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Reider was especially pleased to see his young cousins, who have grown up since he last saw them. Misses Benlah M. and Ethel Donore were little more than babies on his previous visit, but now were able to entertain him. After supper, Mr. Donore sent for Mr. and Mrs. John McDonough, who live only a block or two away, and they brought with them. Mr. and Mrs. Clement D. Parham, Miss Florence Lacey and Miss Anna Sterner, of Schuylkill Haven, all deaf except Mrs. McDonough, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parham. Another evening visitor was Mrs. Clarence Donore and her child, wife of Mr. Donore's oldest son, who swelled the party to nineteen. Soon after nine o'clock Mr. and Mrs. George S. Reider and their daughter, Sarah, and Mr. Reider, who made up the automobile party, began the homeward trip, and reached the farm twelve miles north of Reading at about 10 o'clock. Mr. Reider returned to Philadelphia on Monday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McIntyre celebrated the second anniversary of their wedding at their apartment in North Wildwood, N. J., last Friday evening, October 29th. The evening was spent in parlor games and social converse, closing with an elegant supper. A number of useful presents were given the couple. Among those present besides the young hosts were Mesdames Daniel Paul, W. H. Lipsett, Rev. Mrs. C. O. Dantzer, Arthur and Charles Colberg, Messrs. Stiles and Koffman, and two hearing ladies. The following is the list of nominations for officers made by Philadelphia Division, No. 30, N. F. S. D., at its last meeting.

For President—John A. Roach, Harry E. Stevens.

For Vice-President—John A. Roach, Harry E. Stevens, William K. Clayton, Louis C. Lovett.

For Secretary—James F. Brady.

For Treasurer—Frank J. Kuhn.

For Director—Joseph V. Donohue, George H. Porter, Jr., William E. Rothmund.

For Sergeant-at-Arms—James L. Jennings.

Philadelphia Council, No. 8, Knights of De l'Epee, will give a reception at the Parkway Building, 1619 Summer Street, on Wednesday evening, November 24th, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of the Abbe Charles Michel De l'Epee, who is known as the father of the sign language. This function will be open to ladies. The reception will be followed by a dinner at which the price per plate will be $1.50. Those who desire to attend the dinner should communicate with Mr. J. C. Nowacky, 1421 Arch Street, in advance for a reservation.

Mr. Charles Clifford Rollinson and Mrs. Ida Dorothy (Postell) Heckman were married on Saturday evening, November 6th, in the presence of about fifty persons, at the bride's home, 1941 Wilder Street, South Philadelphia, by the Rev. C. O. Dantzer. An elegant supper followed the ceremony. The couple left afterwards to spend their honeymoon at Wildwood, N. J.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Dantzer closed their cottage at Wildwood, N. J., and occupied All Souls' Rectory for the first time on Wednesday, November 10th. They will have to put up with the noise, dirt and confusion of carpenters, plumbers, electricians, etc., for a while. After all repairs are finished there will be a service of blessing followed by a reception.

A surprise linen shower was given to Mrs. Ellen V. Orberg at All Souls' Parish House on Wednesday evening, third of November. The young lady was taken completely by surprise after having dined with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Allen, the sexton and his wife. About thirty friends attended the event.

Miss Orberg and Mr. Elmer E. Scott were quietly married in the Rectory of Corpus Christi Church, 29th and Allegheny Avenue, on Saturday morning, 6th inst. The ceremony was performed by Father Vincent Brown, Dean of Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary at Overbrook, Philadelphia. They spent their honeymoon at Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C.

During her stay she was entertained at a Coffee Party at St. Luke's Parish house. Among her friends there were the following: Mrs. M. Morgan, Mrs. M. Garbett, Mrs. E. C. Pethick, Mrs. Gussie Galhahan, Mrs. Drolsbach, Mrs. Christ, Mrs. Lucy Garbett, Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. C. Clark.

As usual, there will be a service of Holy Communion at All Souls' Church for the Deaf, at 10:30 A. M. on Thanksgiving Day. No dinner will be provided, as on former occasions, but a supper may be had for the nominal sum of twenty-five cents. ### To Holders of Liberty Bonds

I have recently received a good many Fourth Liberty Loan bonds in the belief that they would be exchanged for permanent bonds early next month, but the Treasury Department issued an announcement that the engraving of permanent bonds will not be finished till about the middle of February, 1921. In the meantime, I am holding them for account of the owners in safe-keeping, unless instructed otherwise.

It had come to my notice that very many owners of Liberty Bonds did not cash the coupons as they came due in the last two years. The Government has frequently expressed its desire that collection should be made from any coupon as it came due.

Your savings bank would be glad to enter your coupon in your pass book even as low as $1.06, so it is advisable that coupons be cashed by your savings bank and thus more interest would be earned on that interest.

The price of most commodities is falling, so by all means hold on to your Liberty Bonds, which value would be enhanced thereby.

Your Liberty Bond is to all purposes a piece of money with the added feature that it earns interest.

Don't sell your Liberty Bonds or exchange them for stock of unknown standing.

Yours truly,
SAMUEL FRANKENHEIM.

DIES FROM POISON

Middletown, O., October 21.—Bradley Summer, 24 years old, a deaf-mute, died at his home, 121 East Second street, about 6 o'clock last night after drinking poison. Returning home yesterday afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock, Summer's mother, Mrs. Isabelle Combes, found her son unconscious. He died a half hour later. Up to a few weeks ago Summer was employed at Barborton, O., at a rubber manufacture plant. Hearing that he was ill, his sister, Mrs. Martha Mullin, who also makes her home with her mother, went to Barborton and returned with her brother. Since his return he had been despondent. Coroner Edward Cook came from Hamilton last night and viewed the body. Summer's father is living in Kentucky, it is said. A sister, Mrs. Ida Fields, resides in Hamilton.

PITTSBURGH.

When Pittsburghers set out to have some fun they usually succeed in doing it in first class style, and halloween parties invariably reach the top notch.

There was early talk of several halloween parties to be pulled off, but only that of the "Frats" was pushed to conclusion, and that was a record breaker. Their hall was crowded. Everybody seemed to be out to see and enjoy the fun they knew was being provided for their amusement. They were not disappointed apparently, as the following list of prize winners indicates. The lady costumers outnumbered their male rivals three to one, and they naturally carried off the major count of prizes.

The judges in the contest, Mr. T. J. Blake, of Akron, Mr. Earl Butts, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. F. A. Leitner, had a tough job on their hands and some ticklish points to settle, but they executed their duties satisfactorily, it appears. Their awards follow:

For the prettiest costume: 1st, Miss D. Beatty; 2d, Miss H. Forbes. For the ugliest costume: 1st, Miss M. Hastings; 2d, Mrs. C. For the most comical costume: 1st, Mrs. L. Hanson; 2d, Mrs. J. K. Forbes; 3d, Charles Reed.

For the cutest costume: 1st Miss Danver; 2d Miss Forbes.

For the oddest costume: 1st, Geo. Cowan; 2d, W. J. Smith; 3d, A. Richman.

For the most popular costume, Miss Emma Natwaka.

Prizes were awarded to several others who deserved recognition, and this goes to show that those in costume had gone to considerable pains to produce creditable make-ups. In fact all deserved praise for their zeal to amuse and please the crowd.

There was quite a delegation from Altoona although they arrived too late to participate in the contest for which they had prepared. A disabled engine, which drew

KANSAS

It is now two months since our school opened for another term. There have been a few changes in the management of the school. The trades have been opened once more and competent instructors appointed. The new Superintendent, Elwood A. Stevenson, formerly of the New York Institution for the Deaf (Farwood), is endeavoring to afford every opportunity and benefit to the pupils of the Kansas School. It is hoped that improvements in various ways will be made. Whenever changes have been made, they have been carried out to the advantage of the pupil. The boys and girls are all well and happy and have taken up their work in a whole-hearted manner.

Trades are in full operation once more. The pupils enjoy the idea of resuming their old positions in the shops.

Mrs. Chas. Ramsey, instructor of the Shoe and Harness shop; Mr. Carrell, instructor in the Printing Office; and Mr. Laughlin, instructor of the Cabinet shop; are the new men appointed. The shops have been closed for some time, because of the difficulty in securing teachers. Great things are expected with such competent and practical men.

Mrs. Taylor, wife of "Dummy" Taylor, the famous hurler of the N. Y. Giants, is now engaged as teacher of sewing and millinery.

Mrs. Stevenson enjoys the West. Her daughters, June and Annabel, are looking well and happy. They can be seen every Sunday in their father's new car, which was recently presented by the State.

Last Sunday the boys took a six mile hike to the dam, which is situated in a very picturesque place. Many pictures were taken.

Last Monday a squad of big boys were needed to chop trees, as it has been difficult to buy wood this fall, due to high wages being paid for other work. They motored eight miles north of Olathe and stayed all day. Warm lunches were brought out at noon. Superintendent Stevenson took them in his car to the place. They certainly enjoyed their big working day.

Supt. Stevenson has made a few suggestions to the Board in the manner of improvements in the trades school. The Board, desirous of giving the deaf boy every possible advantage, has approved of the ideas. Certain necessary pieces of machinery will be added to the cabinet shop, printing office and to the shoe shop.

Dr. Mason and Mr. Penney, members of the Board, paid us a short visit on October 21st, and made a tour of inspection of the trades school. In the afternoon they reviewed the cadets on the drill grounds. They were greatly impressed with the cadence and precision of movement. They complimented the boys and promised to help in securing military uniforms and rifles.

Poultry raising has been started, with a beautiful uniform flock of strong, single-comb, white leghorns owned by Mr. Laughlin.

Work will commence for those boys who are interested in chickens. It will be of very great value as a course at the school. Our coops are situated on the north side of the grounds. In all we have 240 white leghorns.

Orders for coal have not been finished yet. We have many thousands of coal now in the back yard near the boiler room. It is hoped that we will have plenty of steam during the winter.

Every afternoon, after the whistle blows, the girls enjoy their outdoor sports for an hour and a half. Basketball and baseball are carried on under the direction of Miss Colie, the Physical Director.

Captain James McVernon, late of the Farwood School, and now Military Instructor at the Kansas School, has had the boys out on the grounds for the last month, and is fast whipping them into shape. It is hoped that the boys will soon be fully equipped with military uniforms and rifles. Plans are underway whereby the necessary equipment is to be had. The vast improvement in discipline, carriage, alertness and general health, is quite noticeable.

On October 30th, K. S. D. played a winning game against Ottawa University Reserves at Washington Field, Olathe. The score was 7 to 0. This is the first victory of the season.

Since the opening of the season, we have lost five games. In each game, we were outweighed from 15 to 25 pounds to the man. We have lost to Buckner A. C. Wentworth College, St. Benedict College, Ottawa University First, and Haskell Indians.

Our star players are F. Williams, full back, G. Adams, our peppery quarter back, J. Lamm, our sturdy left end, and S. Lamm, our center. "Dummy" Taylor is coaching.

We still have some strong teams to face. Kansas City University and Chillicothe Business College are still to be met.

The Missouri School for the Deaf will play here November 20th, and a thrilling game is expected.

There is also to be a game with the American Legion, which will be held on our field on Armistice Day, November 11th.
